BOSTON, MA – Fountain Street Gallery launches its 10th anniversary celebration with “TENacious,” an exhibition of painting, photography and sculpture by Fountain Street alumni core artists. Fountain Street was born out of a deep commitment to community and collaboration in the arts. The gallery and its artists have held to their vision with tenacity—overcoming numerous obstacles along the way. This exhibit reconnects and celebrates the work of the artists who took a leap of faith and exhibited their work at Fountain Street in its earlier days. They joined as members and partners in an experiment situated in an old factory building in Framingham. Co-founder and director Marie Craig says, “We are grateful for their trust and their artistry; we have grown from the experience of working with each one.”

The exhibiting artists share a piece of Fountain Street's history and carry with them what the gallery has always encouraged—exploration, risk-taking and reinvention. Ten years in and now located in Boston, Fountain Street is pleased to share new work by these former core artists, to reconnect with old friends and to look toward a bright creative future for all.

Exhibiting Artists

Lisa Barthelson, Cheryl Clinton, Susan Emmerson, Bob Evans, Nan Hass Feldman, Richard Kattman, Anita Loomis, Iris Osterman, Roy Perkinson, Tracy Spadafora, Jeanne Williamson Ostroff

Curator Marie Craig is co-founder and director of Fountain Street Gallery. Graduating from Clark University, MA, with a Master's in Biology, Craig began as a medical photographer and illustrator specializing in cell biology. She then became a teacher, curator, and photographer, all in the fine art community. Craig has shown her work in solo and group exhibitions at Danforth Art, Framingham, COSO, Boston, and BigCl Open Day, Australia. Her most recent show at Fountain Street, "Secrets of the Unseen," featured large-scale cyanotypes, made from a primitive photographic process that embraces the unpredictability of the sun, wind and water. By rooting her artistic technique in nature's forces, Craig explores our interconnectedness. She works from her studio in Natick, MA.
